The Baraguey plant in Chagny :

The plant was founded in 1780 by Mr. Baraguey-Saillard on the site of an old grist mill that belonged to the abbey of La Vieille Lyre. It originally manufactured pins and copper points. In 1842, Germain Baraguey, a rich merchant of pins from Rugles, turned it into a wire mill. She then produced plates and son in copper or brass. Producing for both boiler, the navy, and the crafts. She experienced significant growth under the direction of Emile Baraguey Fouquet, son of Germain and under his little son Lucien.

At its peak the factory employed 240 workers. World war i forced the compagny to shift its production to produce pellets of shells and cartridges firthe French army.
